Now, the time has come to make a wish rays of light are flashing through the trees might the world tomorrow stop to turn - we don't care...

Let's get lost into an unknown place let's refuse believing what's been told let's try (out) a magical approach on the world

(But) we're holding another day's moment we're holding another day's times in our hands holding another day's moment

Catch the wind within your open palm dream at night beneath a moonlit sky taste a dream that no one ever dared to dream (no one I've seen...)

(But) we're holding another day's moment
holding another day's time in our hands
holding another day's moment
