Like a flower longs for rain like a heart feels the strain like Searching for a dream hard to escape the pain

Like a song without a soul like fire you can't control like hurt that never ends no one can console

Only the lonely living without you only a heart that's bluer than oceans only the lonely no one to turn to only a dream now –
(I'm) livin' without you

Like a poet without a rhyme like a hill too high to climb like waiting for a chance in a line without an end

Like a night without a day like time it slips away like reaching for the stars uphill all the way

only a dream now –

(I'm) livin' without you Like a river without an end like a child without friends like a clown who wears a smile it's easy to pretend

Like a blind leads the blind like chains that tend to bind like the one who slipped away true love's hard to find

only a dream now –
(I'm) livin' without you
